Luxury fashion meets commercial real estate...in the shadow of BREXIT

Dear BCCG member,

Members and guests of the BCCG, NRW Region are cordially invited to attend an evening at E. Zegna GmbH on the Königsallee in Düsseldorf:

Date: Thursday, 26th April, 2018, 18:30
Venue: Ermenegildo Zegna GmbH, Königsallee 68, 40212 Düsseldorf

The outcome of the BREXIT negotiations in particular on what the future might be for the financial services industry in London, remain unclear. Already though the commercial property markets in London in Frankfurt are beginning to witness participants reviewing their options to move/relocate. Will we see a shift of well-paid financial services jobs away from London in part to Frankfurt, with corresponding loss of purchasing power in the capital?

Our hosts for this event are two market participants potentially affected in different ways. On the one hand we are delighted to welcome Max Aengevelt, Head of International Desk of the Düsseldorf based but both nationally and internationally expanding real estate firm AENGEVELT IMMOBILIEN, already in its 4th generation of family ownership.

On the other hand we are grateful that the evening is sponsored by E Zegna GmbH, the successful and growing family owned luxury men's fashion house. From its simple roots steeped in the values of its North Italian heritage, the group has expanded worldwide and today has >500 stores and 7000 people. The development of the UK market particularly in London has been and continues to be an important part of this growth story. The head of the Düsseldorf business Alexander Luedtke will welcome us to our venue for the evening with a short overview of the qualities of the Zegna collections and the values of the products and their production that have underpinned this success story
