YOUR INVITATION

Lloyds Bank together with the British Chamber of Commerce in Germany, takes pleasure in inviting you to The future of LIBOR breakfast seminar on Thursday 14th June 2018.

The future of LIBOR has been a major discussion topic since Andrew Bailey's speech in July 2017. There has been significant activity amongst certain market participants and industry bodies, with working groups set up in the UK and globally to assess the implications of moving to alternative benchmarks.

This session will explore the background of the changes, recent developments and potential replacements for LIBOR. We will discuss market activity and impacts since July 2017, and analyse some of the practical challenges of transitioning to a new benchmark.

This event will also be an opportunity to understand the latest insights and network with companies across different markets, each with their own challenges arising from this process.

To reserve your place, please RSVP using the buttons on the left, indicating any special requirements.
